WAR SCARE REPORT FROM MEXICO CITY ALARMS CAPITAL

Story Is Sent Out that Huerta Had Severed Relations with the United States

O'SHAUGNESSEY SENDS DENIAL

De Facto President of Republic Refuses Lind's Mediation Proposals

THE SITUATION STILL IS TENSE

Cabinet Meets Today to Develop Policy to Take Place of the Plan Turned Down by Huerta

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—While official dispacthes today quickly disposed of sensational "war scare" reports from Mexico City, the Mexican situation was made more tense through receipts of word from Special Envoy John Lind that President Huerta had rejected the plan of mediation upon which President Wilson based his hope of restoring peace in Mexico.

Although it was known that Huerta rejected the mediation plan, officials here had hope that this refusal to consider it was not final, since Envoy Lind reported that he was in personal touch with the head of the defacto government. There was a persistent belief among officials that with amendments some sort of a mediation plan might yet be effected.

President Wilson received a cablegram from Charge O'Shaughnessey while he was at breakfast. It contained a flat denial authorized by President Huerta of a report that the de facto government had remanded recognition by the United States before midnight last night and as a result of refusal of such recognition had given O'Shaughnessey his passports, severing diplomatic relations. Somewhat earlier, Secretary Bryan received a message from Linds informing him that the mediation program had been rejected.

The report that Huerta had severed diplomatic relations created some perturabation in official Washington. It was not until the American embassy at Mexico City had been communicated with, and had forwarded the denial that officials here relaxed their tension.

They had feared a sinister motive behind these apparently semi-official and broadcast reports last night. The dispatches fro mO'Shaupghnessey and Lind were laid before the cabinet by the president. The formation of a new Mexican policy to replace the administration mediation plan was the paramount and the most difficult question before the president and his advisers today.

After confirming the official statement from the white house denying that any ultimatum had been received from Mexico, or that O'Shaughnessey had been given his passports, Secretary Bryan refused today either to affirm or deny that this government had received a formal reply from the Mexican government regarding its mediation proposal. He denied that he had stated last night that the mediation suggestion had been rejected. He refused to say when he thought these proposals would be made public.

Huerta Cordial

That Lind and Huerta would continue their personal conferences today was believed by the administration. At two o'clock this morning a cablegram was received from Lind stating that he and Huerta had held a lengthy conference last night at the suggestion of Huerta. Lind reported that he had been most cordially received by the Mexican president.

Wait For Orders

Lind and O'Shaughnessey, it was said, are inclined to regard Huerta's rejection of President Wilson's tentative mediation proposals as providing a favorable opening for further conferences, rather than as a final bar to a peaceful solution of the Mexican difficulty.

WALSH FIXED UP

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 19.—Big Ed Walsh will be back with the Chicago White Sox in a week, working in almost the same form that made him for years one of the twirling wonders of the American league, according to "Bonesetter" Reese who treated Walsh today.

Walsh arrived here this morning and received three minutes' treatment. Misplaced tendons in Walsh's elbow and shoulder prevented him from getting into shape this year, according to Reese, and he snapped them into place and saw Walsh on his way back to Chicago.

TWENTY-FOUR IN GOLF TOURNAMENT

KENOSHA WOMAN LEADS FIELD

Miss Cole Makes Card of 54 and Milwaukee Woman Is Right Behind with 55

With twenty-four entries from the state, the qualifying round of the fifth annual amateur championship of the Wisconsin Women's Golf association was begun this morning with representatives from La Crosse, Sheboygan, Two Rivers, Manitowoc, Milwaukee and Kenosha competing. The first nine holes were played this morning and the same number were to be played this afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock. The first eight in the qualifying round will compete for the championship flight which will be started tomorrow morning.

Miss Cole of Kenosha led in this morning's play, which compress half of the round, when she finished with a score of 54. She was closely followed by Miss Miller of Milwaukee who made the round in 55 while Mrs. Knilans of Sheboygan was third with 56.

Much interest is being displayed in this year's tournament which is proving an exciting event. All the scores were close and it is evident that each round will be won or lost by the narrowest of margins.

Scores Today

Mrs. Kohler, Sheboygan, 61; Mrs. Knilans, Sheboygan, 56; Mrs. Hamilton, Two Rivers, 64; Mrs. Testwuide, Sheboygan, 69; Miss A. CLAYTON IS SENATOR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Announcing that a senate democratic caucus would tonight consider the credentials of Representative Clayton, appointed senator from Alabama by Governor O'Neal, Senator Bankhead declared today that a majority of the members of the senate had reached the conclusion that O'Neal had a legal right to make the appointment.

LOOT QUEER COLLECTION

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 19.—This was what the burglars took from the home of Al Wilmot while he and his family spent the week end at a nearby summer resort: One case of beer, one volume of Guild's medical curios, five phonograph records, all classical, one automatic revolver, one Hamburger steak, two dozen peaches.

BRISTOW AMENDMENT FAILS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.— The senate today by a vote of 24 to 39 defeated the Bristow amendment to the free sugar clause of the tariff bill. The amendment provided for an immediate reduction of the sugar from 1.12cents to 1:52 cents per pound and a gradual reduction thereafter to one cent a point in 1919.

UNCLE IKE RETIRES

ASHLAND, Wis., Aug. 19.—Isaac Stephenson will not be a candidate for the United States senate to succeed himself, according to dispatches received here from Madison. Senator Stephenson, it is reported, declared his intention to retire to private life and hereafter take part in politics only as a mere onlooker.

BOOM TO COLLAPSE

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 19.—The early collapse of the Canadian land boom is predicted here by Mayor Bading who returned from a Canadian trip today, "The expansion of the Canadian realty boom is beyond all reason," he stated, "and is already showing signs of falling to pieces."

GARBAGE QUESTION UP TO THE COUNCIL

Mayor Sorensen at Meeting Tonight to Urge Employment of More Men to Meet Demand

TO SETTLE LIGHT DISPUTE

Council Will Let Contract for Power at the Water Plant; Ordinance for R. R. Tracks

When the common council convenes in special session tonight Mayor Ori J. Sorensen will urge upon that body the immediate necessity of hiring additional garbage collectors.

Complaints have been pouring into the mayor's office from citizens in all parts of the city of the lack of proper service. With the temperature around the ninety mark it is a fact that in most sections garbage filth has been taken away on an average of once a week. The result, says the mayor, the health commissioner and others, is the exposing of residents to disease.

The garbage collectors, in answer to requests for more diligent work maintain that they are handicapped by the fact that the routes they have to cover are too big for the number of men employed. In this they are upheld by Health Commissioner J. M. Furstman and Mayor Sorensen. The proposition to be submitted to the council will be for the hiring of more collectors.

The council will also vote on the application of the Heileman Brewing company for the passage of an ordinance granting authority to install more sidetracks at their plant. The brewery plans the building of several additions.

The repair of Cass street, damaged by leaks in the creosote paving will also be taken up. City Engineer Bradish estimates the cost of relaying the street at $6 per running yard or approximately $8,000 for the four blocks said to be in bad shape.

The council will be forced to choose between the Wisconsin Railway, Light and Power company and the La Crosse Gas and Electric company in the matter of securing power to operate the crane at the new plant. The railroad commission of Wisconsin has informed the city attorney that the commission had no grounds upon which to act at this time. It would be necessary for the Wisconsin Railway, Light and Power company to file an application to do business here, he says, and that would, under the law, have to be followed with a hearing.

That injunction would probably follow any attempt by the street car company to retail power was the assertion of Mr. Roemer. Such is the case between rival companies in Milwaukee at the present time.

OFFER WISCONSIN PASTURE TO SOUTH

Land Owners of Northern Part of State Offer Three Million Acres of Grazing Land

WOULD BREAK BEEF FAMINE

Want Southwest to Ship Herds Starving from Drought to Badger State

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 19.—The great land owners of northern Wisconsin, including many of the big lumber companies are offering the cattle raisers of the drought stricken southwest over 3,000,000 acres of rich pasturage land at nominal charges upon which they can run their herds and fatten them for the market and thus break the beef famine predicted by the bureau of animal industry of the department of agriculture.

There has been an abundance of rain in northern Wisconsin this year and the wild hay crop is double its usual extent. An immense acreage, estimated by A. W. Sanborn of the state board of public affairs to be close to 4,000,000 acres is available for pasturage.

From Marinette, Wis., comes a specific offer by the chamber of commerce to supply pasturage for $65,000 head, this offer being made direct to Governor Cruce of Oklahoma.

On this cut over land the growth of grass is now over two feet and the problem of water is amply solved with the numerous lakes and trout streams that cut up this section of the state. The fact that feeding on this pasturage is feasible, Senator Sanborn states, has been proven by the experience of Montana cattlemen who frequently ship into the state and pasture large herds on this cut over land with success.

FUNERAL HALTS TRADE

JANESVILE, Wis., Aug. 19.—Business was suspended here this afternoon during the funeral services over the remains of the late County Judge John W. Sale.

SUSPECT THOUGHT TO BE H. K. THAW HELD IN CANADA

Madhouse Fugitive Is Said to Have Been Captured in Coaticooke, Quebec

MOTHER IGNORANT OF HIDING

Servants at Family's Country Home Say Escaped Slayer Is Not There

CAN BE BROUGHT BACK TO U. S.

Extradition from Canada Is Possible on Charge of Assault or Bribery

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The New York Evening World this afternoon establisned long distance telephone connection with Chief of Police Bodeau of Coaticook and prints the following report of their conversation with Chief of Police Bodeau of Coaticook:

World—Is the man you have in custody Harry K. Thaw?

Chief BodeauHe has admitted to me and to several other persons that he is Harry Thaw. If he had not, his description fits that of Thaw. He is tall and erect, rather dark of complexion. His dark, staring eyes would attract attention anywhere. He has not worn eye-glasses since we captured him and he did not have them on when he was arrested. His brownish hair is streaked with gray and he wears a blue suit, wrinkled and dusty from travel.

World—Will you please ask Mr. Thaw to step to the telephone? Tell him the Evening World will print any statement he desires to make.

There was an interval of about five minutes.

Chief Boudeau — Mr. Thaw says he does not desire to make any statement at this time. I believe this is by advice of his counsel, Mr. Shirtliffe, of this place, who has been engaged by Mr. Thaw to look out for his interests.

World—What became of Mr. Thaw's two companions?

Chief Bodeau—There was nothing on which we could hold them and they were discharged. They left here about 11 o'clock in the buggy in which Mr. Thaw drove into Coaticook.

World—Have you arranged for any court proceeding?

Chief Bodeau—In that I will be governed by the king's counsel. We are waiting for instructions from the authorities of New York.

COATICOOKE, Que., Aug. 19.—A man identified by Deputy Sheriff B. H. Kelsey of Colebrook, N. H., as the missing Harry K. Thaw, was arrested by the authorities here today and is being held for investigation, but according to Chief of Police John Bourdeaux of Coaticooke, the prisoner denies that he is Thaw, and refuses to make any other statement regarding himself. Kelsey's identification is all the authority the police have for holding the man.

The police were convinced this afternoon that the suspect arrested here was Harry K. Thaw. Chief of police John Bordeau was in doubt until he carefully questioned the prisoner. Afterward he said:

"I am now satisfied that there is no doubt that the prisoner is Harry Thaw."

Has Thaw Letters.

When the prisoner was searched this afternoon the police found several letters addressed to Harry K. Thaw, care Matteawan Asylum. This fact convinced the police that they had the right man.

Chief Bordeau said that he was at a loss to know what to do about Thaw, but would risk holding him until the authorities at Ottawa ruled on the case. He said that the prisoner persistently denied that he was Thaw when he was first placed arrest, but when confronted with statements made to Kelsey on the train last night, finally weakened. He was in a sullen and uncommunicative mood, being inclined to resent his arrest. He repeatedly asserted that he could not be held legally.

"I have not committed any crime. You have no right to interfere with us," he said. "I demand that you permit me to go ahead to Quebec."

The deputy sheriff declared that the man made no effort to conceal his identity as Thaw and said that he was on his way to Canada where he would take a steamship for Europe. The prisoner, said Kelsey, declared that he could not be held a prisoner in Canada and could not be extradited, as he is charged with no crime.

According to the police, the arrested man is 35 years old, with

BLAMES WOMAN FOR RENO FLIGHT

Diggs Declares Marsha Warrington Insisted on Accompanying Him on Trip

LAYS MOST OF BLAME ON GIRL

Asserts that She Persuaded Lola Norris to Go Along with the Party

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 19.—Maury Diggs took the witness stand and in his own behalf at 10 a. m. today. Many women were present. Mrs. Diggs is waiting to testify after her husband has told his story.

Diggs was extremely voluble in his testimony.

He wanted to leave Sacramento alone, he said, but Miss Warrington insisted on accompanying him.

"You're not going away to leave me, are you?" he asserted she exclaimed.

Persuaded Miss Norris

It was Miss Warrington, too, Diggs asserted, who persuaded Miss Norris to join the party, when she demurred.

"Did Miss Warrington once call Caminetti a 'piker', asked Attorney Devlin, because he refused to go to San Francisco, saying he needed the money it would cost to pay his wife's hospital bills."

"Yes, she said that," replied Diggs, "and she added: 'We have framed it all up and you must go.'"

Responding to another query Mr. Diggs stated that Caminetti told him Mrs. Caminetti had been before the juvenile court to have the quartet prosecuted and their affairs broken up.

After Miss Warrington had insisted on going to Reno with the two men, Diggs said Caminetti told her: "I want to go on record as doing my best to persuade you girls not to accompany us. If we are going to be arrested we do not want to be hampered by women."

Set Upon Going

Diggs said he argued to the same effect but Miss Warrington still insisted.

"On urging Miss Norris not to remain behind, Diggs testified that Miss Warrington said 'It would be a pretty mess if you stay behind while we three are away, and you'd tell everyone where we were' and for that reason I'm not going to leave you."

"Did Miss Warrington really induce Miss Norris to leave Sacramento?"

"Yes, she did," answered Diggs.

Miss Norris never would have gone if it had not been for Marsha's importunity.

SECOND TOADSTOOL VICTIM IS TAKEN

Mrs. Frank Jansky Dies at Lutheran Hospital from Effects of the Poison

TO HOLD A DOUBLE FUNERAL

Wives of Father and Son Will Be Buried Together Wednesday Afternoon

The second victim of toadstool poisoning, Mrs. Frank Jansky, 1231 Johnson street, died at 8:15 Monday night at the Lutheran hospital, 24 hours after her mother-in-law, Mrs. Bartl Jansky, passed away from the same cause. Both deaths resulted from a feast of mushrooms, gathered by Frank Jansky among which are said to have been a number of toadstools.

Besides the two women, Frank Jansky and his father, Bartl Jansky, also ate the fungus. Frank was taken ill at the same time his wife was stricken, but his father escaped the poison altogether. Frank has recovered.

The last few hours of the two women's lives were spent in unconsciousness. Dr. C. H. Marquard and Dr. C. Christiansen, who attended, did all in their power to ward off the deadly poison, but to no effect. All hope for the recovery of Mrs. Frank Jansky was given up yesterday.

Surviving Mrs. Frank Jansky is her husband. Mrs. Bartl Jansky is survived by her husband, who is a mason, and six children. The children are: Mrs. E. C. Duncan, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Hary Kohn, Los Angeles, Cal.; Miss Josephine Anna Jansky, La Crosse, and Messrs. Joseph, Frank and Michael Jansky of this city.

A double funeral for the wives of father and son will be held from the residence at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon. Andrew Tykal will officiate. Interment will be made in Oak Grove cemetery.

ADVISE HAMMES TO GO TO COURT

John Rae Insists that There Is Nothing to Arbitrate in Local Painters' Difficulties

NOT KEEPING MEN AWAY

Says if Union Men See Fit Not to Work for Shop it Is Their Own Business

That there is nothing to arbitrate and that Mr. C. E. Hammes will have to adjust his difficulties in the courts or pay up his back dues and be reinstated to membership in the local union, number 374, Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers of America, was the reply of Organizer John Rae when asked this morning whether the union had any reply to make to the article signed by Mr. Hammes and published in The Tribune last evening.

"We might give an interesting history of Mr. Hammes' career as a union man," added Mr. Rae, 'but our case in the hands of our attorney, Mr. Fred H. Hartwell, and we have no desire to try our lawsuits in the newspapers.

"There is nothing to arbitrate. Mr. Hammes has no trouble over wages or anything else that is covered by the arbitration clause in the contract. He simply dropped out of the union and union men have declined to work with him, but not because of any orders from the union. For a union man to work with Mr. Hammes, a non-union man, is against the very fundamentals of trades unionism.

"Mr. Hammes has retained counsel, Mr. A. H. Schubert, and Mr. Schubert has threatened an injunction suit. The matter has progressed so far as a demand on the secretary for the names of the members of the union.

"If Mr. Hammes is right we will stand by any court decision. It appears to us, however, that no court will allow Mr. Hammes as a member of the union to agree to certain by-laws, in effect a contract with him, and then when he sees fit, repudiate his contract because it does not suit his present needs.

"We have nothing whatever personally against Mr. Hammes. In fact he is the one who started the controversy and the way to end it is either by paying up and coming back into the union or going ahead with his threatened suit.

"We are not asking any man to refuse to work with Mr. Hammes. If any union man as an individual sees fit to refuse to work with him it is that man's individual business."

ADMITS HE'S BIGAMIST

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 19.—Conscience stricken, Walker S. Fensler, of Bluffton, Ohio, surendered to the police here today confessing that he is a bigamist. He admits he has been married to the following women:

Ada Keating at Lima, Ohio, July 4, 1905; Elizabeth Jones, Oneato, Ala., July 3, 1911, and to Miss Lena Beckaw, Pascagoula, Miss., on July 4, 1912.

He has children by all of them. He says he loves his Mississippi wife best. "I should be sent to the penitentiary for life," he said.

REFUSE SUFFRAGE BOOTH

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 19.—Woman suffragist forces in Milwaukee are aroused and angry today because of the action taken by the Wisconsin State Fair association in refusing the Wisconsin Woman Suffrage association a booth on the fair grounds, on the ground that the association was "a political party." And to make the blow smart the keener, the person to make the exclusion motion was the only woman on the board, Mrs. Ada Howes.

HEN MOTHERS WILD DUCKS

Quack, Quack, Suack, they went, nine full grown wild mallard ducks, closely followed by Harry Palmer. This procession took place yesterday out at Palmers' on the Mormon Coulee road when Mr. Palmre received a consignment of the birds from an aunt, Mrs. T. Kemp in Langdon, Minn. A letter received from Mr. Palmer's aunt states that the ducks were hatched by a hen. They are tame.

RACINE PLANS BOUTS

RACINE, Wis., Aug. 19.—The McCue Athletic club has leased the Racine theater for monthly boxing and wrestling bouts and will hitch Matty McCue against Young Eppy of Pennsylvania in the first show scheduled for Labor Day. The Racine Boxing club has signed Kid Mahoney and Patsy Brannigan for a ten round fight some time in September.

AVOID MEXICO DEBATE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Republicans and democrats in the house joined today to prevent the introduction of subjects which might invoke a discussion of the present strained Mexican situation, and adopting the plea made by Minority Leader Mann of Illinois, urged members to "sit quiet and keep cool."

PACIFIC LINER HITS ROCK AND 40 MEET DEATH

Twenty-five Passengers and Seven Seamen Go Down with State of California

MANY DROWN IN STATE-ROOMS

ACCIDENT IN GAMBIER BAY

Alaskan Waters Scene of Wreck; Steamer Jefferson Picks Up Survivors

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 19.—That 68 perished on the steamer State of California seemed certain this afternoon.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 19.—Thirty-three passengers and seven seamen were lost when the steamer State of California of the Pacific coast Steamship company's fleet struck an uncharted rock and was wrecked in Gambier bay, Alaska, at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. The steamer sank within three minutes after striking, and many passengers drowned before they could get out of their state rooms. Dispatches from Juneau say that it is impossible to give the correct list of the missing, as the purser saved no records.

Badger is Drowned

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 19.—Paul Neacy, son of Thomas J. Neacy, president of the Filer & Stowell company, who was a passenger on board the ill-fated State of California, escaped when the vessel sank off the Alaskan coast Sunday, but his companion, W. A. Dyer, of Fond du Lac, was lost. A telegram was received from Neacy this morning stating he was on a steamer bringing in survivors and confirming the report of the death of Dyer. Neacy and Dyer had been at Skagway during the summer. Both had been students at Marquette university and Dyer was to graduate this year. Neacy entered Columbia university this fall.

News of the wreck and the heavy loss of life did not reach Juneau until noon Monday when the steamship Jefferson arrived with some of the passengers and crew who had been rescued.

Manager's Wife Drowns

Among the dead are Mrs. Nellie B. Ward, wife of Edward C. Ward, assistant general manager of the company at Seattle, and their daughter, Miss Lily Ward, who succumbed to exposure after her rescue. Other passengers drowned, whose bodies were recovered:

Mrs. A. Birnbaum.
Mrs. Stella Reardon.
Claron Vanderlass.
Four unidentified women.

Names of missing passengers: Leslie Hobro, Miss May Dixon, Mrs. O. E. Spithill and child, Lillian B. Norman, Nick Pittulas, Benjamin A. Wade, Miss Anna L. Cassidy, W. A. Dyer, Minnet E. Harlan, Blanche Fridd, Miss Alice Johnson, Miss Reardon, J. Holman, Miss Wilson.

Members of the crew who are known to be dead are: Fourth Officer I. Anderson, Wireless Operator D. C. Perkins, Deck Officer N. W. Lawson, Deck Officer L. Mezzone, Walter P. Smith, Walter J. Clark, Walter B. Haniger.

Miss Ward and seven members of the crew were found clinging to a raft by the crew of the Jefferson. Miss Ward died as the result of 20 hours' exposure before she reached Juneau. Locked in each other's arms, Mrs. Ward and her daughter jumped overboard after the State of California struck the rock. The mother's body was found near the wreck.

Seven Drift for Twenty Hours

Miss Ward was picked up by six members of the crew who had taken to a raft. For more than twenty hours they drifted in the seas among the ice floes until sighted by the Jefferson, which was enroute from Seattle.

THE TRIBUNE'S Daily Short Story

After Law Came Love

By BRYANT C. ROGERS

Copyright, 1913, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"G. Remington, Attorney at Law."

So read the sign over the door of a hallway on the main street of the town, and upstairs, smoking his pipe and waiting for his first case, was Gerald Remington.

It was a fad of his wealthy widowed mother that put him where he was. Left to his own devices, the young man would have come out of Yale to hunt lions in Africa or break his neck while trying to climb some mountain in Montana.

There had been a lawyer in the Remington family for the past two hundred years. Some of them had been half way honest, and some of them had served jail sentences. The Widow Remington looked upon the law with reverence and upon a lawyer with admiration. She had never employed a lawyer professionally, and she had never read of the crooks and twists of the law. Her son had voiced his disinclination, but she had insisted.

"Just graduate and be admitted to the bar and go into court a few times, so as to get your standing," she urged. "After that you can do as you will. I want the honor of saying that my son is a lawyer."

Therefore came Gerald Remington to the town, and therefore came his sign over the door. It may be also added that therefore he smoked, read novels, walked, fished and played checkers with any one that came in. He hoped he wouldn't get a client, and for this reason he got three in one day.

The Widow Wells was fifty years old and had a temper. Deacon Goodman's cow got into her garden with two fine horns in the place where the horns ought to grow, but got out with only one, and that was aching like an ulcerated tooth. The widow was rather handy with a club. The deason came over to see her about it, and was called a dodo and a lulu and a peach and other fond names, and run out of the yard with a brawny hand on his collar. He came to Lawyer Remington to start a suit for assault and battery.

Miss Lottie Davis was an old maid. She had long had the reputation of being a gentle thing, but when she got proof positive that it was Mrs. Bixby that sent her a comic valentine, in which she was held up to ridicule, she paid a neighborly call. Mrs. Bixby saw her coming and locked the doors. The gentle Davis kicked the panels out of front and back, broke the pump handle, kicked the dog and called out to the cowering valentine sender that she would come again and break her neck.

Yes, it was just awful, and Mr. and Mrs. Bixby came to see Lawyer Remington and demanded large doses of the law and satisfaction.

Two miles out of town lived farmer Sarlisle. He had a daughter, Bessie, who was called the handsomest girl for twenty miles around.

Miss Bessie wasn't fiery, and she wasn't gentle. She was betwixt and between. The morning she started to drive into town with her pony and phaeton she kissed her mother tenderly. Half an hour later she was putting her whip over the shoulders of old Mr. Wiggltesby. He was driving the other way in a farm wagon. They happened to meet at a narrow place in the road, and he tried to crowd the lighter rig into the ditch.

"Are you talking to me?" was demanded.

"'Course I am! Outer the way!"

Farmer Wigglesby saw a moving picture show without going to town and paying a dime. He saw a girl flush up and her eyes flash. He saw her take the whip from its socket. He saw her jump from the phaeton. He beheld a girl and her whip climbing into his wagon. Then he felt, as well as saw, and when he reached the office of Lawyer Remington and got his breath he said:

"She shall go to jail if it costs me every cent I've got on earth! I believe she hit me fifty times! I never got such a licking, even when I was a boy and broke a window."

There were three cases, and all came at once. They were forced upon the lawyer. He realized that he was lame in his law, and he dreaded the going to court He went ahead, however, and the three cases were set for the same day. The gentle old maid's case came first, but all the time he was trying it young Mr. Remington was thinking of the others. That was how he got mixed up. When he rose to address the jury he said:

"Gentlemen, what can you think of a girl of nineteen deliberately kicking in the panels of a neighbor's pump handle in her wild desire for revenge? Doesn't that show a—"

"But it was the old maid that kicked," whispered a man.

"Yes, gentlemen," went on the lawyer after a gulp, "she finds an innocent cow in her yard, and without making the slightest investigation of the circumstances she arms herself with a bludgeon and knocks a horn—"

"That was the widow who knocked the horn off!" whispered the same voice.

"Yes, gentlemen, and meeting an innocent and almost helpless old man, who had never harmed man, woman or child, she kicks his dog and—"

"You'd better sit down!" advised his mentor.

"Mr. Remington, we are not trying your three cases at once," kindly observed the judge.

"No I—I don't think I feel well today, your honor."

"You are not looking at all well. You can hand your cases over to Mr. Black if you wish."

Mr. Remington left the court room amidst a storm of applause. That is, he telegraphed his mother that it was applause, and that having upheld the honor and fame of the Remington family he was ready to take down his sign. He didn't feel a bit better when Mr. Black called, two hours later, and told him that he had been nonsuited in each case and the cost assessed on the plaintiffs. Mr. Black had scarcely advised Mr. Remington to drop the practice of law and take up the practice of shoveling dirt, and left the office, when old Mr. Wigglesby came stamping in.

"You born fool!" he shouted. "You don't know any more about law than my dog does about playing the fiddle!"

"I think I had a touch of colic."

"Cabbage head! Here I've been called names and welted with a hoss-whip, and you go and make it wuss by making a jackass of yourself!"

"There he is!" shouted Bixby, as he pointed at the failure.

"He hasn't got the brains of a washboard," added his wife.

Then the owner of the one-horned cow came in and had his say, and when he had departed without kicking anybody, Lawyer Remington went to his boarding house and rested his weary legal brain with ten hours' sleep. Next morning he got up and went fishing. He walked and walked till he came to a river. Then he fished and fished till he fell asleep. He might have slept an hour longer than he did had not a footstep aroused him. He opened his eyes to find a handsome girl confornting him with a smile on her face.

"I am Miss Carlisle," she said.

"I am Mr. Remington."

Have you caught any fish?"

"Not a one."

"I knew you wouldn't when I saw you pass the house.'

"How did you know?"

"Because you have too much brains for a lawyer and not enough for a fisherman!"

"Say—say—"

"But there's nothing to be said, except that I want you to go up to the house with me. Faher would like to see you."

"See me?'

"Yes. He is engaged in gathering curiosities for a dime museum in the city!"

It was several months later when Miss Carlisle's mother whispered one day to her father:

"James, what do you think?"

"What do I think?" he replied. "Um! Um! Why, I think that while young Remington failed at the law business, as my son-in-law he'll prove to be a howling success!"

FIELDERS CRASH; ONE HURT

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 19.—Hugh Lloyd is today dangerously injured and Gerland Parish badly hurt as the result of a collision in a ball game here yesterday, while both were chasing a fly ball. Lloyd was rammed on the jaw by Parish's forehead and is believed to have sustained concussion of the brain.

Reassured.

Mistress—Did any one call while I was out?

New Girl—Yes, mum; Mrs. Green called.

"Did she seem disappointed when you said I was not at home?"

"Well, she did look a little queer, but I told her she needn't get cross about it, 'cause it was really true this time.'

SAY POLICE ARE IN RACIAL FEUD

SPRINGFIELD, Ia., Aug. 19.—A feud between Lithuanian and Native American residents of Auburn, near here, was aired in the sheriff's office today when 180 Lithuanian residents of the village appealed to the authorities for protection.

They said one man had been shot by a policeman, a woman slugged by him and injured so that she may die, a man beaten until he is seriously ill and numerous men beaten severely by a gang of American miners with whom, they say, the mayor and the police are in sympathy.

A dozen warrants were issued by a justice for the arrest of Americans said to be members of the gang.

Probably a good many honest people don't agree with you.

Making His Garden.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— The Little Bird That Makes a Garden.

DADDY had told the children some strange stories, but when he asked Jack and Evelyn what they thought of a bird that had a garden they opened their eyes.

"I thought you would be surprised," daddy said. "Birds take a great interest in our gardens, but I do not know of any in this country that have gardens of their own.

"To get acquainted with the birds of this family you would have to go to faroff Australia or New Guinea.

"The gardening birds are known as bower birds because of the curious summer houses that they build for themselves and mates.

"These houses, or runs, as they might better be called, are formed of twigs and grasses so arranged that they form a sort of gallery or tunnel.

"The birds build these odd houses near the plants on which they feed. When the house is done they strew the ground about it with bright and attractive things like bunches of berries, sprays of flowers or shells.

"When the house is just as nice as Mr. Bird knows how to make it he gives a dance, to which he invites the lady bird whom he wishes to make his wife. When she comes he shows her all the beauty of the house and garden, and then he dances a stately dance with a make believe partner, while she stands shyly back and looks on.

"It is all very lovely, and when the dance is done he shows her some of the pretty things which he has gathered in the garden to please her and which no doubt he tells her shall be hers if she will be his bride.

"The odd part of it is that after they are married they do not live in the bower. They build a very rough nest of twigs, and in that Mrs. Bower Bird lays several eggs. Their charming summer house is quite forgotten then, for both the birds are kept busy caring for the young ones.

"The gardener bower bird makes his bower around the trunk of a very young tree. He heaps up moss to the height of a foot and a half and over this stretches the stems of orchids, the plants remaining alive and in bloom for a long time.

"In front of the entrance to the bower the bird lays out a little plot with moss which he gathers and plants there. Weeds, stones and flowers are also placed in this little plot. Bright colored insects are strewn over the moss instead of being gulped down, as they would be by most birds.

"Not only does the bower bird lay out the garden, but he cares for it, rooting out plants when they are no longer fresh and pretty and putting others in their place."

SUPPRESSING SACRILEGE IN PATERSON

A very sacred persons seems to be Mr. "Bummy" Ryan of Paterson, N. J. Mr. Ryan is a policeman, who has had fame forced upon him through the speech of a labor leader named Patrick Quinlan. In his speech Mr. Quinlan said: "Elect a socialist mayor and you won't have cops like 'Bummy' Ryan batting you over the head with a club." For thus secrilegiously intimating a possibility of conditions under which Mr. Ryan's activities could be restrained Mr. Quinlan was sentenced to serve in jail by a judge who looks upon lese "Bummy" Ryan as a serious offense, whether the law makes it so or not. At this distance it is impossible to say whether the victim, Quinlan, is a dangerous man to leave at large or not. But if he is only half as great a menace to public safety as the judge who sentenced him appears to be, it ought not be hard to find a better reason than a lawful speech for imprisoning him.—Outlook.

THE TREASURY THE PEOPLE'S INSTRUMENT

The more the bankers, the business men and the farmers of the west consider the proposal of the secretary of the treasury to deposit $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 in the banks to meet crop moving requirements, the more they are inclined to applaud the secretary's proposition. They are especially pleased because this money will come directly to the west, instead of filtering through the New York banks.

In order that the money may be distributed in the wisest manner, the secretary has invited representative bankers from 59 cities in the south, middle west and Pacific coast region to confer with him.

There has been little, if any, opposition to the secretary's plan to accept not only bonds, but even prime mercantile paper as security. It was on this proposition that some doubt was felt at first.

As time passes, the crop prospects are not so flattering as they were earlier in the season. The prolonged drought in many sections, and the continued hot weather, have affected crops to some extent, but the old-time "bumper" yields are still hoped for. The winter wheat yield will be almost up to late winter indications, but the prospect for corn is not so promising as it was. The unusual heat in the west has affected the growing corn. Conservative estimates now are that the yield of corn will be about 20 per cent under that of last year, which set a new record for this country. The latest oats estimate is that this year's crop will equal about two- thirds that of 1912.

Even with the reductions in estimates, the grain output will be enormous, and an enormous amount of money will be required to move it. But this money is now in sight, thanks to the action of the secretary of the treasury, and neither farmers nor elevator men will be required to pay high interest rates.

WHY NOT BE FAIR ABOUT IT

Speaking of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill debate and its influence upon present tariff revision the American Review of Reviews says:

"Then came the great fight of the 'insurgents,' or progressive republicans, in the course of which La Follette, Dolliver, Cummins, Beveridge, Bristow, Clapp, Bourne, Dixon, Borah and several others, proceeded to give the country a real tariff debate, and to create a situation that led on, irresistibly, through a series of political and legislative episodes, to the present culmination. Senator La Follette may now put in his own substitute bills, by way of showing his views as to proper percentages in the wool schedule and elsewhere; but he should remember that the future historian of the tariff will assign to him a considerable part of the responsibility for the democratic tariff revision of 1913, by reason of what he did in 1909 and the three subsequent years."

Nothing could be more unfair. The Review's argument seems to be that if the tariff were changed from the Aldrich schedules it could be changed only as the present bill would change it; that one who helped compel a change from the Aldrich law helped make inevitable the Wilson bill.

On the contrary, La Follette stands today on the tariff just where he stood during the Aldrich debate. The Review cannot pick out a single schedule in the Wilson law which La Follette would have modified that he ever supported. No senator's ideas on the tariff are more definite, none is based on more exact information and applicable logic.

TICKET AGENT ROBBED

MOORHEAD, Minn., Aug. 19.—Thirty-five arrests were made as a result of a dragnet thrown out early yesterday morning after two men held up Grover Coxsey, night ticket agent of the Great Northern.

Coxsie was making up his cash when ordered to throw up his hands and found himself looking in two guns.

DECIDE ON MILWAUKEE

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 19. — The next meeting of the Gegenseitige Unterstuetzungs-Gesellschaft Germania will be held in Milwaukee next summer. It was decided by the convention to hold the annual meeting in Milwaukee every other year. Fred Weingart of Milwaukee was re-elected president of the organization, and Robert Polster of Sheboygan, was chosen as speaker.

The Finishing Touch

An Irishman was one day engaged at stonebreaking on the roadside and not being used to the work, could not get on very fast. A friend of his who chanced to pass by as Pat was belaboring a large stone with renewed vigor tried to show him the right way, and, taking the hammer from him, broke the stone with ease.

Said Pat. "Sure, now, and it be easy for ye to break the stone after I have been softening it for the last half hour."

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Drew the Line on Air

The bartender grasped the man next the stove by the shoulder and shook him until he was awake.

"Here, Zeph," he told him, "you'd better go out and get some fresh air. It'll do you good."

Zeph merely grunted drunkenly and huddled back in his chair. The bartender tried it again, with like result.

"You won't get out, won't you?" he roared angrily. Seizing the unfortunate Zeph by the collar and the seat of the trousers, he escorted him forcibly to the alley. "Get out there in the air and brace up," was his parting advice.

"Y' kin put me out if y' like, but" —Zeph straightened up with drunken dignity—"ye can't make me take no air, durn ye!"—Everybodys' Magazine.

Discount on Worms

The president of a western college was spending some time in a large eastern city. In order to study conditions in the city he occasionally took his meals in the poorer restaurants. One morning the waitress brought him some breakfast food that was wormy. He called her attention to the fact. The waitress said that she would go into the kitchen and see what could be done about it. In a few moments she returned, and said: "Since the breakfast food is wormy, you may have it for 5 cents."—Harper's Magazine.

A Judge of Voices

"Such a perfect gentleman!" gushed Miss Softwin. "It was so good of you to introduce him to me last night, dear. We had a most delightful and interesting conversation after the concert was over."

"Yes?" calmly queried Miss Knox, who was cynical enough to know that there was something more to come.

"And after hearing me sing," said Miss Softwin, "he told me—quite seriously, you know—that he would give anything if he had my voice. He said it was worth a fortune. I'm sure he was perfectly sincere in saying it, too."

"I'm certain he was," retorted Miss Knox hopefully. "Perfectly sincere! You see, dear, he's an auctioneer."

Ignorant of His Own Language

The Boston Americans were playing the Nationals in the Bean city one afternoon. Tris Speaker knocked out a long fly that fell between right field and center.

"I have it! I have it!"

As soon as Moeller had caught the fly, a disgusted Boston fan remarked:

"That guy don't even known his own language. What he should have said is 'I've got it!' I suppose he's some gink that's trying to make out he's been to college."

As a matter of fact, Moeller not only went to college, but graduated. —Popular Magazine.

And during the pause of oratorical effect came a small voice: "The gas meter."—National Food Magazine.

RICH BACHELOR IS THOUGHT MURDERED

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 19.—Two strange coincidences lead the police to believe that George W. Griggs, millionaire bachelor, has committed suicide or been murdered. As yet they have discovered no motive either for suicide or murder.

Mr. Griggs, who is a member of the wholesale flour and feed firm of Jameson, Hevener & Griggs, has been missing since 8 p. m. Sunday. A coat and a straw hat were found on the high bridge early Monday morning which apparently belonged to him.

FORM LION HUNT AT OREGON, WIS.

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 19. — It was so hot Sunday that the posse of farmers collected near Oregon, Wis., to hunt and kill the wild animal, supposed to be a lion, which has been making inroads on their cattle herds postponed the hunt. The animal has been seen by several people and is described as being about the size of a large dog, with long mane, bushy tail, with white spots on its legs and spreading feet. Michael Quana, keeper of the Vilas park zoo here, says it is a lion. Several circuses have been in this vicinity lately, and the farmers believe it escaped from one of these.

LIGHTEN CARGO SHIP IS RELEASED

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Aug. 19.—The steamer Wexford, which went aground of Time Island, midlake, in a fog Friday night, was released after lightering 50,000 bushels of wheat at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Water leaked into cargo holds, wetting 20,000 bushels of the grain. A diver left the Soo this morning to examine her injuries and make temporary repairs to allow the steamer to proceed to Goodrich, Ont., to discharge her cargo.

MADISON MAN IS FOUND IN LAKE

The annual picnic of the LaCrosse County Agricultural school will be held at Dresden park this year. The boats will leave the Saenger boat livery at Levee park at 10 o'clock sharp Thursday, August 21. Those intending to attend the picnic should telephone or write W. E. Spreiter, Onalaska, Wis.

Market progress in Alabama high school is reported to the United States bureau of education. In 1908 there were 50 high schools, few of them with courses of more than three years in length; now there are 132 institutions doing high school work, all but 14 of which have full four year courses.

THE RED BUTTON

A MYSTERY STORY OF NEW YORK

By Will Irwin

Copyright, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

"Juan thought that all out. We took what little money we had left and started for New York, telling our friends that we were going to settle in New Orleans. Juan wrote to our uncles in Caracas and secured the New York agency for a small asphalt company of theirs. That was done to conceal our real reason for being here. On the voyage, my eyes grew worse, I cried so much. I was very ill with them when I landed.

Juan and I took rooms apart. We had learned enough about Captain Hanska to know where we might look for him. Juan traced him to Mrs. Moore's boarding-house. It seemed certain that Captain Hanska had not sold the jewels yet, else he would not be living so cheaply. The first thing was to find where they were. Finally Juan and I formed a plan and acted upon it.

"Juan had discovered that the back room on the top floor of Mrs. Moore's house was vacant. Captain Hanska lived below; there was no good reason for him ever to come up on that floor. I took the vacant room, calling myself Miss Estrilla, as you know. Juan had been watching Captain Hanska like a detective. He moved me in one day when the Captain had gone to Staten Island. My presence in the house was safer than it may seem to you. I did not leave my room even for meals, since my eyes were really in very bad condition. Then, I wore dark glasses, an eye-shade and a heavy scarf about my head—I do not believe my own mother would have known me. Captain Hanska had never seen Juan or his picture—it just happened that there were no photographs of him in our house at Port of Spain.

"Juan lived in an apartment hotel. We were in communication all the time by telephone. He was careful to avoid the Captain when he visited me. It was all dangerous, for at any time we might be discovered. But we had our plan—I was to enter Captain Hanska's room with a pass-key and search for the jewels or the bill of sale. Whenever I made this search, Juan was to be following Captain Hanska. If the Captain showed signs of returning, Juan was to call me up on the telephone—the ringing of the bell in my room, which informed me from down-stairs that I was wanted on the extension telephone by my door, was to be my warning signal. I could hear that bell from Captain Hanska's room. There could be no mistake, because Juan was the only person in New York who would be telephoning to me.

"But when I tried Captain Hanska's door with my pass-key, I found that he had installed a new patent spring lock. The next time Juan called, he looked over the house. He found that you could enter Captain Hanska's room from the fire escape and that you could get on to the fire escape from the window of the lumber-room across the hall from mine. That room was never locked. It was only a question of prying open the catch on Captain Hanska's window. One night about a week before Captain Hanska died, I began the search. I went down the fire escape, carrying a pocket electric torch which Juan had bought for me. I got the window-catch open with a penknife—it was old and loose. I went over the whole room that night and again on another night—and found nothing. I did discover a little strong-box in the top drawer of the dresser. It lay wide open. It had a curious lock. In that, I was sure, he would put the jewels if he ever wanted to move them. There was no sign of the bill of sale. It occurred to me, then, that Captain Hanska might be carrying it on his person. I knew him to be a very sound sleeper—he had boasted to me of that, and he proved it by sleeping through a fire at his hotel when he was in Port of Spain. So I did a dangerous thing. Without speaking to Juan, I went down the fire escape at two o'clock in the morning of a night when Captain Hanska was at home, and looked through his pockets. I even examined all the papers in his wallet by the light of the electric torch. But it was not there. Juan, when I told him, was angry with me for taking such a risk. He made me promise never to enter the room again unless Captain Hanska was away.

"And then we found that we must act quickly, or lose our property forever. Juan was watching Captain Hanska, following his movements very closely. That day—the day and night when everything happened—the Captain visited a jeweler in Maiden Lane—I think you call it. He stayed a long time. From there he went to a safe deposit bank. When he came out, he had a package in his pocket—Juan could see his coat bulge. Juan was afraid that he would go straight back to the jeweler and make the sale; and then our last hope would have been gone. Instead, Captain Hanska went to a cafe and sat alone a long time, drinking. When he left that place, he returned to Mrs. Moore's. And the shape of his pocket showed that he still carried the package.

"It was plain to us that the package contained the jewels, and that he intended to dispose of them at once—probably the next morning. That night the jewels would be in his room—and it was our last chance. Juan came to see me just after dinner. We talked it all over, and made our final plans. In the first place, it seemed best for Juan to do the work himself. I am a woman, and very weak with grief and illness. I could no nothing in case I was discovered. Though Juan had never been in the room, I could tell him exactly where to look—there seemed no doubt that Captain Hanska was keeping the strong-box for that very purpose.

"Then we considered another thing—how we should both get away. At first we decided that I should leave the house early, and that Juan, after getting the jewels, should follow me. But he did not dare to make the attempt before one or two o'clock in the morning, when Captain Hanska would surely be asleep—even the heaviest sleepers sometime lie awake a long time after they go to bed. rs. Moore, we knew, was very watchful—she was afraid of burglars and she had the habit of running to her door whenever any one entered or left during the night. She would know that I had gone out; if Juan left at one or two in the morning, rs. Moore would take alarm, knowing as she did that I was out of the house, Being nervous and ignorant, she was likely, we felt, to seize him or to give some sort of an alarm. We were thinking of every possibility, you see. These things are necessary for me to tell, that you may understand what happened later."

(This in answer to an objection of Inspector McGee, who was urging her to come to the point.)

Mme. Japrose Talks on Personal Cleanliness

The daily bathing habit is more than a desire to appear clean and bright. It is a positive necessity for complete health. The pores of the skin are nature's breath ducts and to clog them up is to invite ill health. The happiest men and women and children on earth are those who are perfectly clean, and perfect cleanliness comes from the use, in the bath, of Jap Rose, the bubble bath soap. The delicate odor of this delightful toilet requisite gives one that sense of perfect cleanliness; free from the odors of perspiration. Sold at 10c by almost every good merchant in this country.

We're here to look our best; to create favorable impressions among those we seek to influence.

Selling Your Milch Cows Won't Stop Abortion

You can't drive out abortion that way. Abortion is a germ disease. To kill abortion you've got to kill the abortion germ. If you have ever had abortion in your herd, your cow barn, sheds, etc., contain those deadly abortion germs. Your herd bull also will be infected. Bring new cows into these barns—and they come directly in contact with abortion germs. Prevent abortion—by using the

Aunt Sally's Advice to Beauty Seekers

K. C. F. says: "My skin becomes so greasy every summer and this so attracts dust and dirt that I have an awful time keeping my face clean looking. Can you suggest anything?" The method mentioned in reply to Eloise will overcome this condition.

D. N. A. writes: "How can I get rid of crowsfeet and wrinkles about the mouth corners?" Use a wash lotion prepared by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. This tightens the skin, tending to disperse wrinkles, and its tonic effect is more than temporary.

Eloise says: "My freckles are worse than ever this year, made doubly conspicuous by a pallid complexion. Is there any cure?" Ask your druggist for an ounce of mercolized wax, apply nightly like cold cream, removing in the morning with warm water. As the wax gradually and harmlessly obsorbs the affected cuticle, not only will the freckles vanish, but the new and younger skin which will appear will have a healthy color. Probably you will need to continue treatment a week or more.—Women's Realm.—Advertisement.

WEST LAUGHS AT POOR CROP SCARE

Say Eastern Alarmist Reports of Failures in the Southwest Are Absurd

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—Eastern alarmist reports of crop failures in the southwest are absurd, according to buyers from Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri and the army of country merchants is backing up its opinions with normal orders. They concede that the corn yield will be short, but point to bumper wheat crops and high livestock prices together with favorable reports on cotton as assurances of plenty.

Wholesalers here say that the fact that rural buyers are laying in stocks as large as in previous years, and that many new merchants are on the market is the best answer to all gloomy predictions originating in the east based on exaggerated reports of the drought.

M'GREGOR DISTRICT HAS GOOD CROPS

35 Bushels of Wheat to the Acre Reported and Other Yields Are Splendid

M'GREGOR, Iowa, Aug. 19.—(Special.)—While complaints are coming in from various sources of crop failures because of insufficient rainfall and excesive heat, 1913 promises to be a record breaking year for this section of Iowa. The farmers are busy threshing and report as good crops of grains of all kinds as ever have been grown in this vicinity. A yield of thirty-five bushels of wheat to the acre has been reported from one farm. Astounding crops of timothy and clover have been grown and pastures have been continuously good. A second cutting of first-class alfalfa has just been made on the Kinsley Brothers' dairy farm near town. A tobacco field just west of McGregor stands four and a half feet high. The growth has been made since the middle of June when the plants were set out. Early potatoes are producing well and late ones promise equally well. Corn is looking splendidly except in a few places where the grub worms have worked and farmers unuanimously are predicting a banner yield. Apple trees are scarcely less heavily loaded than last year.

PLOW WORKS MEN ON ANNUAL OUTING

Employes of Hirshheimer Plant Go Up River on Yearly Picnic Saturday

The plants of the La Crosse Plow company were closed lat Saturday to allow the employes to attend the annual company picnic, which was held up river.

At 4 o'clock in the morning the plow company's big electric truck started out with the commissary division, and everything was in readiness for the big crowd when they arrived a few hours later in twelve launches.

More in order to protect the good things to eat and to see that none of the members went over their depth in the river, George Mahoney and Martin Hollovitch were appointed policemen, and with uniforms, clubs and stars made an imposing couple of guardians of order. Each of the officers were compelled to make a speech before starting out on their duties.

In the morning the forge and foundry departments played a game of ball in which the forge department was victorious by a score of 8 to 5. The only interruption to the game was the losing of the only ball they had when Rude Siede knocked a home run. Officer Mahoney acted as umpire, but there were so many objections to his decisions that it was necessary for him to be taken off the grounds.

A German band led by Albert Politzke and a chorus of male voices led by Paul Kaulfuss furnished the music during the entire day.

Chicken "bouyah" figured largely among the good things to eat which were furnished by the company. President A. Hirshheimer, Vice President H. J. Hirshheimer and Secretary L. C. Hirshheimer visited the improvised camp during the afternoon, delivering speeches. Mr. H. Hirshheiber responded to the request for an address by saying he hoped to see all the picnickers present two years hence, when he holds his 75th birthday anniversary.

When requested for a speech Mr. L. C. Hirshheimer tok the opportunity to present Mr. McNeany, who is leaving the services of the company, with a gold watch. H. E. Montford and Mr. Ecklund also made speeches.

The sentiment expressed by the entire aggregation when they left for the return trip at 7 o'clock was one of appreciation to the committee that arranged for the affair.

In an increase in timber sales this year and in a decrease in receipts from timber trespass as compared with last year, national forest officers see a growing use of the forests and respect for the federal forest policy.

NORTHERN LEAGUE SEASON HERE ENDS

Last Three Games Are Transferred to Winona and Team Leaves Today

Announcement was made last evening that it had been decided to play the Winona-La Crosse series at Winona, so yesterday marked the closing of the baseball season at League park. It was decided last week to transfer the three games to the up-river city because games there are drawing better crowds. The change was revoked several days ago and it was thought the Winona team would be brought here according to schedule, but there was another switch last evening and the local players were told to get ready to go to Winona to play the league leaders three games. The Colts left at 10:55 this morning for Winona, where the series opens this afternoon.

Six more games will end the Northern league season and this means two more series. The Colts wind up the season at Minneapolis Sunday after playing at Winona today, tomorrow and Thursday.

JOYRIDERS CUT BY BARB FENCE

M'GREGOR, Iowa, Aug. 19.—(Special.)—A joy ride here last night ended disastrously for L. Bruckner and the horse which was taking him and three chums out to the wedding of a friend in the country. The young men were driving two deep in a single rig. As they rounded a sharp curve in the road at a swife pace the buggy swerved off the side into a ditch, throwing the four out. Bruckner was hurled against the barb wire fence and his neck and arms were terribly gashed. The rest of the party escaped with bruises and scratches. The horse got into the wire and was badly cut.

BIG EXCURSION FOR PLAYGROUND

Prominent Business Men Urge La Crosse People to Attend Outing on Sydney Wednesday

That the excusion Wednesday afternoon and evening on the steamer Sidney for the benefit of the playgrounds, is backed and supported by the citizens, is evidenced by the fact that a number of prominent citizens have heartily endorsed the project.

John Holley, president of the State Bank, says: "It is a worthy enterprise and should be liberally patronized."

George Burton, president of the National Bank, says: "Citizens of La Crosse should co-operate in every way possible in any matter concerning the interest and welfare of playgrounds."

William Doerflinger says: "Anything for the benefit of the children should be encouraged and should have the hearty support of the citizens."

Wendell A. Anderson says: "I have always been intensely interested in playgrounds and anything for their benefit should be supported."

Harry Taggart, secretary of the Protective association, says: "Boost this playground movement by attendance at the excursion, it's a fine thing for the children."

J. L. Utermoehl, secretary of the La Crosse Board of Trade, says: "The proper advancement of parks and playgrounds is a feature of civic betterment which deserves careful study and liberal support. The Park Board alone cannot satisfy the needs in that direction, at least with its present means, hence the excursion idea to be carried out by Park Superintendent Forrer and his assistants on Wednesday, the proceeds of which are to be devoted to the purchase of additional apparatus, is in my opinion a very commendable one and should receive the hearty support of all public spirited citizens."

Laundered bank notes are said to be slightly longer than unlaundered bank notes, but the increment doesn't cover the laundry bill.

TOURNAMENT OPENING IS A SOCIAL EVENT

The Country club was the scene of great activity this morning, the occasion being the opening of the Ladies' state golf tournament. There are about thirty players here from the various clubs in the state. Inside the club the ladies were busy with the decorations, the color scheme being yellow and white. Hanging baskets filled with ferns, nasturtiums, golden shower and the dainty little white star flower were suspended from the ceiling. The fire place was banked with golden rod and ferns. On the various tables were fancy baskets filled with the same variety of flowers. Bay trees and palms were also used, giving a cool and woodsy appearance. In the culinary department Mrs. Oeschger, the superintendent, was busy with a score of able assistants, preparing dinner for about ninety guests. All things point to a most successful affair. Many of the visitors are staying at the Country club while others are quartered in private homes.

CHANGE NOT JUSTIFIED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—No undue discrimination but an unreasonable rate condition" was developed by the interstate commerce commission's investigation of the complaint of the Boston chamber of commerce on through rates from the Atlantic seaboard to Colorado points, according to an opinion of the commission today. It was held, however, that balancing of the effect upon the carriers by reduction in revenues which would ensue if action were taken on the complaint against the slight benefit accruing to the complainants, a change in present rates was not justified.

Notice to Builders and Contractors is hereby given that bids for the construction of a cold storage and creamery building to be located on the Trempealeau County Asylum farm at Whitehall, Wis., will be received by the trustees of said asylum until 12 o'clock noon Tuesday, September 2, 1913.

A certified check equal to two per cent of bid must accompany each bid. Specifications for the work may be seen at the office of County Clerk P. K. Risberg, of Whitehall, Wis., with whom bids shall be filed.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Watching The Scoreboard

The Dodgers pushed the Cards into the cellar in 7 to 1 and 6 to 2 games, while the Giants were defeating the Pirates twice and copping a clean ten game lead over Philadelphia.

Fletcher and Doyle used the big stick for the Giants and Mitchel went the circuit without stopping for the Pirates.

Five Dodgers climbed into the stolen base column in the first half of the double rebuff and harvested fourteen hits in the second game. Allen and Rucker, who have been out of the game with injuries, "came back" for a victory each.

Mike Doolan, who was chased into the bush leagues, made a double, single, stole two bases and scored three runs for Jersey City.

A fumble by Plank, followed by a free passage and a clean single gave the Tigers the game in the ninth, after the Athletics had a three run lead earlier in the game.

Philadelphia used 18 men and the Cubs won by a six run rally in the last frame.

KILLS WIFE BEFORE PLEADING CHILDREN

MARTIN'S FERRY, Ohio, Aug. 19.—Before the eyes of his six children, who pleaded in vain for their mother's life, John Marshall, a glass worker, shot and killed his wife today, then after holding the police at bay for several hours, fired a shot into his own brain, dying instantly.

Heat a Menace to Lives of Old Folks

Sickness and Misery Result From Clogged Bowels in Hot Weather

People advancing in years should be very careful of their health during the hot months, as heat has a very enervating and weakening effect on them. One has only to lpok at the daily list of fatalities to elderly people reported by the papers to realize that these are the hardest months for them to overcome.

The easily digested foods should be eaten, and then only sparingly, and alcoholic beverages and iced things should be avoided as much as possible. Exercise should be taken daily in the shade. Most important of all in the maintenance of health and vigor at this time is to avoid constipation, with its accompanying headaches and muscular and blood congestion. This is accomplished by the timely use of a gentle laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is the ideal laxative for elderly people, as it is mild, tastes pleasant and does not gripe. Best of all, it contains valuable tonic properties that build up and strengthen the system.

Elderly people should avoid strong physics, cathartics, purgatives, salts and pills, as they are a shock to the system. In the opinion of reliable people like Mrs. C. J. Nicholas, 2010 Emerson St., Berkeley, Cal., who esteems it a benefit to mankind, and Ida C. Milchsack, 210 N. Law St., Allentown, Pa., who declares that her stomach and bowels are now in perfect working order, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the right remedy to use. It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. The latter size is bought steadily by those who already know its value.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it, postpaid, by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 418 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

BUREAU WILL GET JOBS FOR STUDENTS

Employment Agency Is a New Department to Be Worked Out at Normal School

An innovation will be started this fall at the normal school in the shape of an employment bureau for students desiring work during the hours after school and on Saturdays.

J. C. Ferguson, a student at the school, has been put at the head of the bureau. He says there are fifty students listed at the present time that want employment for their board, or to earn a little extra money.

Many of the students, both boys and girls, are willing to work continuously at homes during the time they are not studying. If the plan of Mr. Ferguson proves a success, possibly a larger number of students can attend the school than in the past.

I. W. W. SPEAKERS GIVEN JAIL TERM

MINOT, N. D., Aug. 19.—Former Mayor Arthur Leseur and Street Commissioner Dewey Dorman, arrested during the recent I. W. W. riots here, were fined $25 each and nineteen others, charged with blocking the streets, were sentneced to ten days at hard labor each and to pay a fine of $20 each, at a session of police court that dasted until midnight. While court was in session an I. W. W. speaker attempted to address a crowd. In the disturbance that followed, one man was beaten unconscious.

BOLT HITS HOE BOY IS KILLED

RUSHFORD, Minn., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—Ross Morcomb, sixteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Morcomb of Freemont, Minn., was suddenly killed last Friday afternoon by a bolt of lightning which jumped from the steel hoe which he had in his hand to his body. Young Morcomb ad been hoeing potatoes on his father's farm.

A slight rain had been faling during a part of the day. Morcomb's parents saw the bolt strike the field in which their son was working, and running to the spot found him dead.

MISSING HEIR APPEARS

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 19.—Oswald Sommers, 33, missing heir to the $100,000 estate of his uncle, Carl Neumann, formerly proprietor of Cafe Neumann, who died in Milwaukee, Wis., four years ago, reappeared in St. Paul today, ignorant of his uncle's death or that he was entitled to the fortune.

Today's Beauty Recipes

By Mme. D'Mille.

"An actress whose complexion is a marvel to behold confided to me that she always tabooed creams and powders and uses only a mayatone lotion of made by dissolving an original of mayatone in one-half pint of witch hazel. The mayatone lotion is applied to the face, neck and arms when the morning toilette is made and gives to the complexion a touch of refined elegance impossible with powder or cream. It is especially nice for hot weather use, because one application lasts an entire day and it overcomes the 'oily,' 'shiny' appearance and quickly banishes tan and freckles as well at reduces large pores.

"Bothersome hairs on face or neck can be quickly removed without pain with the aid of a delatone paste which is spread on the hairy surface for two minutes, then rubbed off. The paste is made by mixing powdered delatone with water, and after it is removed the skin should be washed to rid it of the surplus delatone. This simple treatment leaves the skin free from hair or blemish, and seldom is a second application necessary.—Adv.

SUSPECT THOUGHT TO BE H. K. THAW HELD IN CANADA

Thaw is 42 years old, his hair is turning grey and he did not wear a white derby hat when he left Matteawan.

Arrested at Hotel

The man was arrested early today at the Hereford hotel, kept by Sam Cadieux, several miles out from Coaticooke, on Kelsey's request. He said that he had recognized the man as Thaw on a train. The suspect came to Coaticooke by automoolie from Riverside.

It was planned this afternoon to take the alleged Thaw to Sherbrooke. The New York police have telegraphed a request to the Coaticooke officers to hold the man, but the local authorities are not sure that this can be done, as they doubt their power to arrest and hold the real Thaw, even if positively identified.

Mother is Ignorant

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, aged mother of Harry K. Thaw, left the Pennsylvania station at 9:35 a. m. today for Elmhurst, her summer home at Cresson, Pa., deciaring that she knew no more about the whereabouts of her son than she did when she received the letter from him yesterday afternoon.

"I have had no further word from my son," she said. "I have told the public all I can tell them. I have nothing further to say."

As she waited at the station until time to board the train, Mrs. Thaw would say no more. She would not say that she expected Thaw to join her somewhere on the way to Cresson.

Accompanied by her sister and daughter, Mrs. George Carnegie, Mrs. Thaw was served with a summons in John D. Gleason's suit for $53,000 counsel fees as she left the Hotel Gotham. Gleason was Thaw's attorney in the first trial.

Clue is False

District Attorney Conger and Sheriff Hornbeck of Dutchess county, returned to Matteawan early today, after a fruitless trip to New York. The sheriff and a deputy in an automobile raced to New York near midnight and Conger, with a private detective came on a train. They had with them a blanket warrant for Thaw and his five aides. Conger admitted that he came to New York on a clue that failed.

Chief of Police McCabe of Poughkeepsie today announced that he had learned the number ot the automobile that took Harry Thaw from Matteawan. McCabe made the announcement after returning from an all night trip in Connecticut. He refused to give out the number, but said he had communicated with Albany to learn the name of the owner of the license tag.

Can be Extradited

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—If the man Canadian police authorities have under arrest at Coaticooke, Que., turns out to be Harry Thaw, the escaped fugitive can be extradited under charges of either bribery or assault with intent to kill, according to the opinion expressed today by Solicitor Van Dyne, of the state department. If Thaw escaped to Canada, he cannot be brought back to the United States on a conspiracy charge. This crime is not included among the extraditable offenses in the extradition treaty with Great Britain.

Not at Cresson

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 19.—At 10 o'clock this morning it was positively stated by servants at the Thaw cottage at Cresson that Harry K. Thaw had not reached that place and was not expected. Elmhurst is the summer home of the Thaws at Cresson and it has been freely predicted that the fugitive would join his mother there, but not for a few days. The theory held there is that he will remain in hiding for a time.

Chief of Police Kenny of Cresson declares that he will make no effort to molest Thaw in the event of his coming to Elmhurst, so long as he makes no trouble, "but if he gets to cutting up any high jinks here, I'll pinch him pretty quick," he added.

Angry at Bribe Charge

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 19.—An extraordinary grand jury session may be ordered by Acting Governor Glynn, to investigate the escape of Harry K. Thaw. Glynn is incensed over the report that bribery opened the prison gates for the insane slayer of Stanford White. He is having a private investigation made. Detectives have told him the names of the men they believe were in the plot. But these men are believed to have been only the ones who carried it out. The real principals have not yet been found, although there is a strong suspicion of their identity. As soon as his reports are complete, the acting governor plans to order them presented to a special grand jury for indictments.

WATSON WILL GO TO CHICAGO CUBS

National League Team Buys Twirler Who Starred with Local Club for Three Years

Charley Watson, star southpaw pitcher who was a member of the slab staff of the La Crosse Minny league club in 1909, 1910 and 1911, has been bought by the Chicago Cubs according to dispatches received here this morning. The deal was made through the Milwaukee American association club which still retains an option on the lefthander.

Watson started his professional baseball career with the La Crosse team. He was signed by Manager Charles Carr of Indianapolis for a trial in 1909, but was farmed out to the local club. During the three years he was with the La Crosse team he was regarded as one of the best southpaws in the league.

Last year when Joe Killian assumed the management of the Oshkosh W. I. league team, he secured Watson to pitch for him and it was largely due to his slab work that the team won the pennant. His pitching was so good that the Milwaukee American association team drafted him and he joined that club late in the season twirling such sensational ball that he was at once conceded to be a star. Although he pitched winning ball the first part of the year, his work later in the season was not so good and he was sent to Fond du Lac, Milwaukee retaining an option on his servies.

He has been going well at Fond du Lac and his work was so good that President Murphy of the Cubs purchased his release. The Cubs are badly in need of a good southpaw, and if Watson can keep up his good twirling there is no doubt he will get a place on the Chicago pitching staff.

HEAVY RAIN ENDS LONG DRY SPELL

JEFFORSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 19.—The drought is broken in this section of the state. A splendid rain which began last midnight is continuing here today and the ground is being thoroughly soaked, the crops and vegetation revived and the blasting heat of the past two weeks driven away. Governor Major is happy because of the rain. He estimates that the rains will place the roads in fine condition for working tomorrow and the next day, unless the rains continue over those days.

THIRTY ZOO BABIES

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 19.—The report of the baby census, taken at the Milwaukee zoo on order of the park board, shows that the Roosevelt ian doctrine of anti-race suicide is popular. Thirty babies were born this year, among them being two kangaroos, five timber wolves, one buffalo, a llama and five deers. Three baby elk are expected next week at the zoo nursery.

WILL RECOGNIZE GLYNN AS CHIEF

Leislature Today Expected to Take Action to Put End to Sulzer Claim

RULES SULZER IS POWERLESS

State's Attorney General Hands Down Opinion Confirming Glynn in Office

(By John Edwin Nevin, Staff Correspondent of the United Press.)

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Definite action which will end, at least until after the high court of impeachment meets, the utter confusion and demoralization which now characterize the business of the state, was hoped for today. The legislature was expected to take steps to recognize Lieutenant Governor Glynn as acting governor. Similar action was looked for by the canal board. State officials generally were to follow the opinion handed down by Attorney General Carmody, holding that Governor Sulzer's powers automatically were suspended with the adoption of the impeachment resolution.

Won't Give Up.

But with all this, Governor Sulzer insisted that he did not intend to surrender the executive chamber to Glynn and the latter was expected to get together with the capitor trustees and designate either his own private office or the assembly parlor as the executive chamber.

Incidentally it developed today that Governor Sulzer, while insisting that he retains all of his powers, has refrained from acting on any big matters of public business since he was formally notified of his impeachment. He is thus in the position, where very few of his official acts are subject to the scrutiny of the courts.

The committee of impeachment of which Assemblyman Levy is the chairman, was to meet late this afternoon to perfect plans. They will announce that former Senator Edgar T. Brackett and John B. Stanchfield will be their counsel, and will take up the general routine to be observed in the conduct of the trial.

Fights Extradition.

GARY, IInd., Aug. 19.—What is declared to be the first fight against extradition to New York state since the tangle growing out of Governor Sulzer's impeachment, will be made in the county courts Thursday, when an attempt will be made to remove Edward Davis, wanted on a charge of wife abandonment in Olean, N.Y.

H. P. Price, attorney for Davis, announced today that he will fight extradition of his client because the papers in the case bear the signature of Governor Sulzer. Price will argue that Lieut. Gov. Glynn alone has the right to sign requisition papers.

DENIES INSINUATIONS

JAMES KEELEY OF CHICAGO TRIBUNE TELLS VOTING MACHINE PROBERS HEARST REPORTER WAS WRONG

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—James Keeley, general manager of the Chicago Tribune, testifying at his own request before the Butts legislative committee, today made denial of the insinuations made in an affidavit by Edward E. Marriott, reporter for a Hearst paper, connecting him with the Chicago voting machine deal now under investigation.

Keeley told the probers that he met H. W. Barr, salesman for the Empire Voting Machine company only once. The statement contained in the Marriott affidavit, in which Barr was quoted as intimating that $50,000 "paid to Keeley" would avert criticism of the contract award by the Tribune, he declared to be without foundation.

At the conclusion of his testimony, Francis Walker, attorney for the Hearst papers, addressed the committee and declared that in his opinion the Marriott affidavit should be rejected as an absurd untruth.

Election Commissioner Czarnecki, who opposed awarding the $1,000,000 contract to the Empire Voting Machine company, caused a mild sensation today when he testified that special prosecutor John E. Northrup told him that the grand jury had discovered that in one precinct at last November's election, two keys of a voting machine had been locked together in such a manner as to prevent the voting of a straight ticket.

DYNAMITE TRAIN EXPLODES

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 19.—An explosion, said to have been caused by the collision of a car loaded with iron and another filled with dynamite, on the streets of Tacubaya, a suburb, killed and injured more than 100 people today.

The disaster happened in the most thickly populated ristrict. The victims are mostly women and girls. At a late hour thirty had been rescued from the ruins of the adobe houses which, for a radius of 500 feet from the scene of the explosion, were knocked to the ground.

Yearly Report of Secretary Shows Dormitories to Be Overcrowded at Institution

Frank P. Hixon was elected president at a meeting of the La Crosse Hospital association last night. Other officers elected were L. C. Colman, vice president; C. H. Schweizer, secretary and E. S. Hebberd, treasurer.

Mrs. Elsie Gile Scott, Mrs. John Brindley, Mr. F. P. Hixon and Mr. A. Hirshheimer were chosen directors to serve three years.

At the meeting last night the annual report of the secretary and treasurer was received.

The revenue for the year ending January 1, 1913 amounted to $16,166.85. The expenses of the institution totalled $18,086.61. The charity account amounts to $1,067.75 while donations and subscriptions amount to $3,241.42. Five hundred and thirty-three patients were admitted during the year, the daily average being twenty-three. The number of hospital days totalled 8314 while the average hospital days per patient was 16. The institution has fourteen nurses and nine employees.

According to the secretary's report, "the hospital has had a busy and successful year."

"As has been stated heretofore," says the report, "the record made by this hospital since its organization has been ample justification for its establishment."

Thanks Contributors

The officers expressed the thanks of the association to all who have contributed to the current expenses of the hospital and to those who have made donations in time, money and materials for the use and benefit of the hospital. Grateful acknowledgement was also made of the bequest of $250.00 made by the late John James.

The successful work of the Ladies Auxiliary in promoting and conducting the Charity ball in the interests of the hospital and in rendering other service from time to time was also mentioned.

The hospital at present, said the report, has inadequate and insufficient quarters for these nurses and it was urged that this feature be improved.

The members were earnestly requested to continue their interest in the hospital, to give it such assistance for its support as they may be able to and to loyally promote the interests of this institution when ever opportunity presents.

EXHIBIT RELICS FREE

DANIELS HALTS PLAN TO MAKE MONEY BY SHOWING MEMENTOES OF COM1 MODORE PERRY

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—As the result of official action by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, mementoes and valuable historical relics on board the reconstructed Niagara, Commodore Perry's old flagship, were today removed from the vessel and will be exhibited free of admission charge at the rooms of the Chicago Historical society, during the remaining days of the Perry centennial celebration here.

Secretary Daniels telegraphed the order after the historical society had made formal complaint that promoters of the celebration here were attempting to turn worship of old traditions to gain. Instead of bringing the Niagara to dock and permitting persons to go on board as in other cities where the celebration was held, the local promoters planned to charge fifty cents admission to see the famous relics. Captain William A. Morris, sailing master of the Niagara, refused to lend himself to such a purpose and moored the old flagship 100 yards off shore.

OLD WEST SALEM RESIDENT IS DEAD

After a long illness, Mrs. Stephen J. Steenson of West Salem died at her home at 8:40 o'clock Sunday evening. Death was caused by a stroke of paralysis which Mrs. Steenson suffered some time ago.

Mrs. Steenson was 70 years old. She had resided in West Salem for many years. She was well known and had many friends. She was born in Germany. Her husband died two years ago.

She is survived by five brothers, none of whom live in this country, one son, J. C. Steenson, and five daughters, Mrs. M. E. Diesenthaler of Fairdale, N. D.; Mrs. Peter P. Olson of Wadena, Minn.; Mrs. D. M. Jostad of Madison, Wis.; Mrs. D. R. Wakeman of La Crosse, and Mrs. J. Marshall of West Salem.

The funeral services will be held at West Salem Thursday afternoon and burial will be made there.

Notice of Hearing by County Board of Petition for the Laying Out of a County Ditch or Drain in the Towns of Onalaska and Holland, La Crosse County, Wisconsin.

Notice is hereby given by the undersigned County Clerk of LaCrosse County, Wisconsin, that a petition for the laying out of a county drain or ditch in the towns of Onalaska and Holland, La Crosse County, Wisconsin, and signed by three owners of land adjacent to the proposed line of said ditch was duly filed with the undersigned County Clerk of La Crosse County, Wisconsin, by said petitioners on the 6th day of August, 1913; that action upon said petition is now pending; that said petitioners have prayed the said County Board for an order laying out a county ditch or drain as aforesaid in said two towns for the purpose of carrying off surface and flood water and dirt, debris and sand which washes over and on the lands abutting the proposed drain, and for the further purpose of preventing the washing away, damaging and erosion of said lands by said waters and to drain and carry off the flood and overflow waters of the stream known as Halfway Creek, and to further protect the North Midway Brice-Prairie road from overflow, damage and injury.

That said petitioners further prayed that said ditch or drain be laid out and ordered by the County Board over and along one of two proposed routes as lescribed and approximately set forth in said petition.

That after the filing of said petition with the said County Clerk—together with a bond to the county with good and sufficient sureties, conditioned to pay all expenses incurred in case the County Board should refuse to grant the prayer of the petition which bond was duly approved by the said Clerk—the undersigned County Clerk thereupon forthwith placed a correct copy of the said petition in the hands of the County Surveyor and who thereupon proceeded to—and did make an accurate survey of two routes of the proposed drain or ditch, which survey the said County Surveyor duly returned to the undersigned County Clerk, together with a plat and profile of the same, a description of the proposed route, a statement of the availability and necessity thereof, a description of each seperate tract of land through which the proposed drain or ditch would pass and the manner in which said tracts would be effected thereby, and the situation and level of such lands and tracts as compared with adjoining lands, together with such other facts and specifications as were deemed necessary and material by said surveyor for the construction of the proposed work.

That the said return and report of the County Surveyor have been duly filed by me in my office. That from the report, return and survey of the said County Surveyor it appears and the fact is:—That the point of commencement of the proposed drain or ditch herein petitioned for is approximately as follows: A point approximately two hundred (200) feet North of the point which forms the center of sections Thirteen (13); Eighteen (18); Nineteen (19), and Twenty-four (24) in Township Seventeen (17), Range eight (8), of La Crosse County, Wisconsin.

That the point of terminus of said ditch or drain is described as being a point approximately three hundred (300) feet north of the point which forms the center of Sections Thirteen (13), Fourteen (14), Twenty-three (23), and Twenty-four (24) in Township Seventeen (17), Range eight (8).

That said ditch is to be located upon and across the following described tracts of land:

First—If along the first proposed route set forth by the surveyor, said drain will commence at the aforesaid point of commencement and run approximately due west for one mile across the South-east quarter of the Southeast quarter; the Southwest quarter of the Southeast quarter; the Southeast quarter of the Southwest quarter, and the Southwest quarter of the Southwest quarter, all in Section Thirteen (13); also the Southeast quarter of the Southeast quarter of Section Fourteen (14) all in Township Seventeen (17), Range Eight (8.)

Second—If along the second proposed route said ditch will commence at the aforesaid point of commencement and will cross the following described tracts of land: The Southeast quarter of the Southeast quarter of Section Thirteen (13); the Northeast quarter of the Northeast quarter, the Northwest quarter of the Northeast quarter; the Northeast quarter of the Northwest quarter, and the Northwest quarter of the Northwest quarter of Section Twenty-four (24); also the Southeast quarter of the Southeast quarter of Section Fourteen (14), all in Township Seventeen (17), Range eight (8) West.

By virtue of the filing of said petition and upon the return and report of the said County Surveyor and in pursuance and under the provisions of Chapter 54 of the Laws of 1911 and acts amendatory thereof, the undersigned County Clerk HEREBY GIVES NOTICE:

That the County Board of La Crosse County, will at a special meeting thereof to be duly held in pursuance of law on Wednesday, the tenth day of September, 1913, at 10 o'clock A. M. at the Court House in the city and county of La Crosse, duly hear all parties interested in the matters set forth in said petition and will at said time further act upon the same.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Changing weather conditions that benefitted the corn crop brought an easier tone to the market today and after a fairly steady opening, September dropped to 74¾c and December to 68⅝, a loss of about 1 cent for each month, during the forenoon session.

Northern Illinois Missouri, Iowa, and Nebraska reported additional rains and there were a few scattered showers in Kansas. Country offerings, however, continued light, the holders believing that there is something in the talk of 80 cent corn.

Wheat declined with corn, in spite of the foreign news that was bullish. After firm opening prices receded ⅜c for each month.

Oats opened firm but prices broke sharply with the drop in corn and at noon were ⅝c to ¾c under yesterday's closing figures.

Provisions had a firm undertone at the start because of steady hog prices, but free selling caused an easier market toward noon.

Corn and oats advanced fractionally in the afternoon. Otherwise the afternoon trading made no change in grain prices.

Provisions dropped further in the afternoon and closed under the days opening prices.

MRS. SCHNEIDER DIES OF OLD AGE

Mrs. Clara Schneider, age 78, died Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Pet, 915 Pine street, after a short illness. Death resulted from old age.

Mrs. Schneider was born in Doburn, Austria, September 18, 1835, leaving that counutry for America in May of 1856. She at once settled in La Crosse. Her maiden name was Clara Ringe. She was married in 1862. Mr. Schneider died October 3, 1876. Surviving Mrs. Schneider are two daughters, Mrs. Valentine Branger and Mrs. L. Peet, and one son, Mr. Frank Schneider, all of La Crosse. Three sisters also survive, Mrs. Frances Schneider, West Salem, and Mrs. Pake Lennon and Mrs. William Belling of La Crosse.

The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence. Burial will be made in Oak Grove cemetery.

THE PROPERTY.

The valuable three-story brick building, 504 and 506 Main Street, La Crosse, occupied by the "City Grocery," and upstairs occupied by dentists, lodges, etc., also the two adjoining properties, 508 and 510 Main Street, occupied by R. P. Schuld and The Huntoon Co., being sold for distribution among the heirs.

Will be sold as a whole (prefer not to sell separately).Terms andconditions named below:

TIME AND PLACE.

Sale takes place on the premises Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, August 26th, 1913.

TERMS.

Half cash, balance may remain on an "on or before" mortgage for five years. Interest payable semi-annually.

CONDITIONS.

The right is reserved and hereby announced, that if the property fails to bring what we consider a reasonable amount, we reserve the right to pay the highest bidder a $20 gold piece and decare the sale off. In other words, we reserve the right to buy the property back from the highest bidder at a profit of $20 in gold (or its equivalent in lawful money of the United States) within five minutes after it is knocked off.

PRESENT INCOME.

The property pays now, under exceedingly low leases, $4,020 per annum and will pay $6,000 per annum at the very lowest estimate when the present leases expire.

$4,020 is 5% on $80,400.
$6,000 is 5% on $120,000.

HUNDREDS STAND READY.

Hundreds stand ready to buy small, ordinary properties, but only one man in a thousand is financially able to buy such a valuable property as this. For this reason you have everything to gain and nothing to lose by attending this sale

COLTS LOSE LAST OF SERIES 4 TO 0

Virginia Slams the Ball for Ten Hits and Whitewashes the Locals Easily

WEIGENT IS BACK AT SHORTSTOP

La Crosse Boy Gets in the Game, Making Three Hits and Fielding Well

Hitting the ball at opportune times Virginia gave La Crosse a 4 to 0 coat of whitewash yesterday and won the last game of the series. This battle was the last one that will be played here, giving the Colts a record of having won seven and lost eight games on the home lot.

After being out of the game for a long time Charley Weigent resumed his position at shortstop and he played a great game despite the fact that his ankle is not yet strong. He accepted six fielding chances without the semblance of an error and he showed that he has not lost his batting eye by poking out three hits, one of which was a two bagger, in four attempts.

Weigent's getting back in the lineup gave Manager Grogan a chance to make a few changes in the team. Dreis was shifted from short to third while DeRusha replaced Lizzette and resumed his position at the initial corner.

Niedenfuer Hit Hard

Virginia had little trouble in hitting Niedenfuer and they slammed ten of his curves safely while fast fielding by Thomas prevented several more hits. In addition, the big local twirler issued four passes, one of which was good for a round trip ticket, and hit a batsman and made a wild pitch which scored another.

Although the Colts made nine bingles, Rhoades refused to allow them to bunch the swats and in but one stanza did two come together but nothing resulted of the pair of bingles. Only two of the locals got as far as third and there were two down each time after which the third out was easy.

The fielding of Thomas and the hitting of Breyette, Hruska and Weigent were the features of the combat. Thomas made several wonderful running catches, one in the first round taking a double away from Couture while another in the fifth spoiled a single for Johnson. With four singles in five times up, Breyette led the hitting for the day but Weigent and Hruska ran him a close race for honors with three safeties in four attempts. Each of the two local swatters made a double.

Breyette's first single paved the way to the visitors' tally in the opening frame, Johnson sacrificing him ahead. Stewart got a hit on a bounder down the first base line and then Couture swatted a terrific fly to left field. Thomas made a great running catch of the hit but it was so far out that Breyette easily registered. Virginia added one to their total in the second when Niedenfuer passed Bramell with one down. An out sent the backstop to second and he crossed the rubber when Rhoades soaked a hot one which Grogan could not handle.

Breyette again started the counting in the seventh with his third single and a sacrifice and an out gave him third. Couture hit one to Dreis who missed the ball entirely and Breyette tallied the third run. Niedenfuer hit Lampert in the eighth then followed with a wild pitch after which Rhoades doubled to right scoring the last run of the day. In the ninth Greisch doubled to center with one gone. Larson flew to Breckenridge who made an unassisted double play by running in and touching second before Greisch returned to the sack. The score:

Summary: Two base hits, Greisch, Rhoades, Hruska, Weigent; sacrifice hits, Niedenfuer, Johnson 2; stolen bases, Safford 2, Niedenfuer, Sutton; struck out, by Niedenfuer 2, by Rhoades 7; bases on balls, off Niedenfuer 3, off Rhoades 4; double play, Breckenridge (unassisted); hit by pitcher, Lampert; wild pitch, Niedenfuer; sacrifice fly, Couture; time of game, 1:40; umpire, Lizzette.

But the Naps lost, after the Senators came from behind three times and tied the score, and the relative position of the leaders remained unchanged. Morgan's triple in the tenth sent three men in.

LIZZETTE QUITS MANAGING COLTS

Resigns to Resume Job as Fireman and Jack Grogan Takes His Place

Arthur Lizzette, manager of the La Crosse baseball club all season, yesterday handed in his resignation as pilot of the team and Jack Grogan, second baseman, was chosen to succeed him. Grogan took charge of the team yesterday afternoon.

Lizzette, who is a fireman for a railroad in St. Paul, has been on a furlough thus far this season. He received word yesterday to report for work and at once gave up the management of the local club. He left last night for St. Paul where he will begin shoveling coal.

Grogan's choice was announced yesterday. The new boss is a veteran player who knows all the fine points of the game, and should make a good pilot. Lizzette did as well as could bes expected with a club when was in a crippled condition for many weeks.

Grogan started out his career as manager by making several changes in the lineup yesterday. Weigent, the star local shortstop, got back in the game and Dreis was shifted back to third base. DeRusha, who has been playing third, was chosen to guard the first sack. Beckenridge was promoted to sixth place in the batting order while Weigent batted eighth.

JOHNSON HOPES TO BREAK THE RECORD

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 19.—Walter Johnson hopes to pitch his thirteenth straight victory this afternoon when he is scheduled for mound duty against the Naps. The Kansas speed marvel has been suffering from a cold in his arm, but announced himself as fit for duty today.

Although lightning scored a hit on the grandstand roof and rain stopped the game in the sixth, the Boston Braves won easily from the Reds. McDonald, who has been warming the bench for some time, hit for the winning run.
